Ocean Horizon Mediterranean Index Launches to Accelerate Mediterranean Marine Conservation

Index One, a leading technology-based index provider is proud to announce a new partnership with Ocean Horizon with the launch of the 'Ocean Horizon Mediterranean Index', independently calculated by Index One.

The Ocean Horizon Mediterranean Index is the world's first geographic-focused themed global equities index. This innovative index has a majority focus on ocean economy companies operating in the Mediterranean while directly supporting Mediterranean marine conservation efforts through partnerships with three local NGOs.

The 'Ocean Horizon Mediterranean Index' sets a new standard for thematic investing by combining the ocean economy with actionable, on-ground environmental efforts. A component of revenue generated from the Index's management fees will be channeled directly into marine conservation initiatives, addressing critical challenges facing the Mediterranean's fragile ecosystem.

The index can be accessed through the official websites of Index One and Ocean Horizon.

Index One offers a trusted, holistic index calculation platform that delivers fast, flexible, and scalable solutions. We help build indices based on custom strategies and provide capabilities for backtesting, rebalancing, corporate actions, and distribution.

We currently calculate over 150 global indices for clients across the financial industry, with multiple ETFs across various asset classes tracking our indices. This highlights our commitment to making indexing and ETFs accessible to investors, and showcases the trust and support of our clients and partners.

Kelly Christodolou, Partner at Ocean Horizon:

"The blue economy is growing but the expense is also having an impact on the blue ecology. The Ocean Horizon Mediterranean Index channels part of the management fee to marine-focused NGOs (AKTH, Marvivo, Nature Trust Malta) operating in the Mediterranean region. This program is a philanthropic initiative designed to support ocean conservation efforts."

Michael Hardiman, Partner at Ocean Horizon:

"We are excited with the public launch of the Ocean Horizon Mediterranean Index, and are optimistic about the Index's potential to give investors truly meaningful exposure to the Mediterranean marine economy. We extend our sincere gratitude to Global Beta Advisors for expertly adapting the Index into a range of tradeable versions and to MEXEM for offering these to European investors. All this is only possible with Index One's precision and expertise as the calculation agent."

Alexander Berg, CEO at Index One:

"We are pleased to work with Ocean Horizon on the launch of the Ocean Horizon Mediterranean Index, which demonstrates how thematic indices can deliver meaningful geographic impact. Index One is proud to support this initiative and looks forward to helping bring the index to market, as well as continuing our partnership through the ongoing calculation and delivery of the index to investors."
